EDITORIAL NOTE

On behalf of the Board of African Journal of Environmental and Waste Management and my co-editors, I am glad to introduce the Volume 8, Issue 1 of the journal. The journal was established in the year 2013 and has published 7 successful volumes and is running its 8th volume in 2021. African Journal of Environmental and Waste Management is an open access Peer-Reviewed diary that looks to distribute the most recent and magnificent exploration papers, audits and letters covering the fields of waste administration and natural designing. Entries will be evaluated on their logical legitimacy and legitimacy. Friend survey is the framework utilized by African Journal of Environmental and Waste Management to evaluate the nature of an original copy before it is distributed. Qualified specialists in the important exploration region survey submitted compositions for innovation, legitimacy and importance to assist editors with deciding if the original copy ought to be distributed or not. The diary intends to advance ecological science and innovation, squander the executives, development, designing and the board.

The journal acknowledges unique exploration and ideas by scientists around the world. We trust that the specialists will appreciate an ideal stage to show the significance of their examination work by distributing in this diary. Specialists are urged to utilize their own voice and to choose how best to introduce their audits. Writers of articles distributed in this diary are the copyright holders of their articles and host allowed to any third get-together, ahead of time and in interminability, the option to utilize, repeat or spread articles. I make a move to express gratitude toward International Scholars Journals distributing bunch for its main goal in making the excursion to take this on-line distribution of the diary to the worldwide crowd. I accept that this diary will serve established researchers better. I wish to urge our academic local area to contribute their unique examination to work with a proceeded with achievement of the diary. I might likewise want to offer my thanks to every one of the creators, commentators, the distributor, the warning and the publication leading body of the Journal for their help in bringing out one more issue and anticipate their persistent help.

We know about the time and exertion goes into composing a decent companion survey, and we profoundly esteem the contribution of analysts who volunteer their time and mastery to give fundamental input that guarantees the top notch of examination distributed in each issue of the diary. We like our companion commentators for taking the time and exertion to give essential wise direction, and we attempt to show our appreciation to our analysts. We send letters perceiving the endeavors of our best analysts consistently.

African Journal of Environmental and Waste Management is a great diary dedicated to the administration of time and finishes basically everything on composing any article in a given timeframe. African Journal of Environmental and Waste Management works a twofold visually impaired friend survey framework, where the commentators of the paper will not become more acquainted with the personality of the creator, and the creator will not become more acquainted with the character of the analyst. The upside of twofold visually impaired friend survey is that it takes out inclination. As the combined period of time of each article to be distributed online is 45 days from the date of receipt. The time taken to deal with the original copy is 4 to 5 weeks. There are different cycles included while distributing like quality check, peer audit, duplicates altering to be finished inside 14 days and the time-frame for the distribution is just a short time after acknowledgment of the article by commentators and editors.

The article group follows exacting rules to stay away from any expected predisposition and irreconcilable situation while exploring compositions. Journal capacities on standards of logical greatness, distribution morals and straightforwardness. I'm certain that together we will make African Journal of Environmental and Waste Management a really amazing distribution.

At last, I might want to invite you, our perusers to this promising diary. Expectation you will discover genial perusing and testing thoughts from this diary. Cheerful and charming perusing!
